Story of Chauffeur.

The chauffeur of Philip's automobile could not be located this afternoon, but he told the police that his employer and MacAbey had an altercation in the machine during their ride, and that hot words were exchanged by them on the pavement before they went to Philip's room in the Arlington.

MacAbey also said that Philip owed him $150 in cab hire, but that this was not the cause of the altercation or of the shooting. His other brother, J. Van Ness Philip, was in consultation with him this morning in the cell at the police station.

The operation on MacAbey, which took nearly two hours, was performed by Dr. Virgil B. Jackson, house physician of the Arlington, and Dr. White, of the Emergency Hospital.

Philip Becomes Hysterical.

At about 10:30 o'clock this forenoon his condition took a sudden turn for the worse, and it was found to be necessary to remove him from the prisoners' dock in Judge Muldowney's court and place him in a cell downstairs.

He became hysterical, and physicians had to be called in to quiet him. Acting on the advice of Oscar Luckett, who was secured as counsel immediately after his arrest, Philip refused to make any statement at the Police Court concerning the shooting.

Assistant District Attorney Ralph Given announced this morning that Philip would be held without bond to await the outcome of his victim's wounds.

Philip is connected with the old Van Ness family of this city. He had a brother in the army during the Spanish-American war. His other brother, J. Van Ness Philip, was in consultation with him this morning in the cell at the police station.

Conger Sinking; Diplomat's Death Is Feared Today

E. H. CONGER, Former Minister to Brazil; to China, During Boxer Troubles, and Ambassador to Mexico.

KEPT LEGATION SAFE DURING PEKIN SIEGE

Health Has Been Failing Gradually for Several Years.

Considerable alarm is felt by the Washington friends of E. H. Conger, former diplomat, over his condition, which was reported in today's dispatches as being so critical that attending physicians expressed doubt that he would live through the day.

Mr. Conger was struck at Pasadena, Cal., where he has made his home part of the time for the last few years.

Mr. Conger will go down in the diplomatic history of America for his heroic actions at Pekin during the Boxer uprising in 1900, when he assisted materially to defend the American legation, of which he was then the head, from the attacks of the Chinese. Shortly after arriving in China as minister he established himself in the favor of the Dowager Empress and was popular among the foreign diplomats.

At Siege of Legation. For a day or more Mr. Conger stood by his post without stopping for a moment's sleep or scarcely a bite to eat, cheering on the legation staff and the American guards, and at the same time endeavoring to calm the women of the legation.

Mr. Conger is sixty-four years of age and has been in failing health for some time. Since retiring from the diplomatic service in 1906 he has been seen little in Washington. Mr. Conger served with distinction as a volunteer in an Illinois command in the civil war, afterward practiced law in Illinois and became a farmer, stockman, and banker in Iowa. He was State treasurer of Iowa from 1882 to 1885, and served in the National Congress three terms—from 1886 to 1891.

Minister to Brazil. At the close of his third term he was appointed to the diplomatic service from Iowa, and served as minister to Brazil six years—1897 to 1903, when he was transferred as minister to China.

Perhaps Mr. Conger's most important diplomatic work was during and following the Boxer troubles. He conducted the negotiations on the part of the United States after the capture of Pekin by the allied powers, and was the head of the commission that negotiated the new commercial treaty with China in 1902.

He was also appointed ambassador to Mexico early in 1906 to succeed Powell Clayton, but on account of failing health he was unable to leave the service within a few months.

Drinks Poison ON FAMILY GRAVE. BUFFALO, N. Y., May 18.—Mrs. Elizabeth Hartley, fifty-seven years old, drank an ounce of laudanum while she lay at the graves of her husband and son in Ridge Lawn Cemetery, in the town of Cheektowaga.

An employee of the cemetery found her lying across her husband's grave. When he picked her up, and carried her into the cemetery waiting room, she feebly said: "Please let me alone. I don't want to leave. I want to die. I have nothing to live for; my husband and only son are dead." She was taken to the hospital, and surgeons report her condition favorable.

FIRE LOSS $500,000 TO NEW YORK PIER. NEW YORK, May 18.—The big covered pier, occupied by the Southern Pacific Steamship Company and the Morone pier, on the foot of Spring street, was practically wrecked by fire, the blaze lighting up the river front and sending a cloud of smoke that cast a shadow over the northern part of the city. Although there were a steamship and barges tied to the pier, effective work on the part of the firemen kept the fire from spreading.

The damage is about $500,000.

Wives to Bar Soubrettes At Their Husbands' Smokers, After Atlantic City Feast

Contumacious Van Buren Giffen, Y. M. C. A. Official, Rouses Storm by Being Glad He Kissed Fair Dancer.

ATLANTIC CITY, May 18.—Officials of the Business Men's League, who denied that the publicity given details of the recent smoker at the Hotel Islesworth, where high jinks by a soubrette were the features, is likely to cause disruption of the powerful organization, have received several resignations from stated members who are taking this method of squaring things with angry wives. The sensation has been augmented with the elaboration given details of the occasion, and the smoker as an amusement has been forbidden by feminine members of a number of well-known families.

Members of the league who had the entertainment in charge were given the laugh when it was discovered that, despite their pretended innocence in regard to the character of the performance, they had managed to hit on the very soubrette whose similar antics before a meeting of hotel men something over a year ago caused some of the more sedate to leave the room. Some of the entertainment committee claimed that they had been handed a lemon when they engaged the talent, but the smiling fellow-members have passed around a tale to the effect that the instructions were to furnish a "good, lively time," which instructions were certainly followed to the letter.

CHICAGO, May 18.—John D. Rockefeller has received his most unkind cut of all. He was lampooned as a "tight wad," pictured as a Jonah, sung about promiscuously, and finally was called up for an accounting on the River Styx. The events of the Styx ferryman was "To the furnace."

His critics were students of the Morgan Park Academy, which will close its doors next month, because he was unwilling to increase the endowment of the institution, which for fourteen years has been a feeder and an integral part of the University of Chicago.

The occasion of the vociferous denunciation of the university's founder by the students was a minstrel show held in the chapel of Blake Hall at Morgan Park. An effort had been made by the school officials to censor the show, but the boys kept their best darts a secret to the last moment.

DEAN OF EMPLOYEES OF NAVY YARD DEAD

Capt. John Daniel Davis, sr., aged eighty-one years, in point of continuous service the oldest employee of the Washington Navy Yard, and probably the oldest man on the payrolls of that yard, died yesterday at his residence, 1206 Third street southeast, after an illness of six months.

Captain Davis was born in Matthews county, Virginia, in 1826, and spent the early days of his life on his father's farm in that county. At the age of ten years his father died and he was apprenticed to a ship owner.

In 1856 he abandoned the sea, came to Washington and entered the service of the Government at the Navy Yard under his brother, James B. Davis, who for many years was superintendent of the ordnance department. Five years after he went to the yard the civil war broke out and Captain Davis enlisted in the company of Captain Ferguson, to guard the Benning road bridge. At the close of the war he was drafted from the army service for three years and assigned to the Navy Yard, receiving an honorable discharge from that duty, and entering the regular service of the Washington yard.

He was a member of Farragut Post, No. 10, G. A. R., and took an active interest in the property of the said company. In 1881 he married Miss Susan Batchelor, of Baltimore county, Md. Six years ago, with his wife and surviving children, he celebrated the anniversary of his golden wedding.

He is survived by his wife and three children: John D. Davis, Jr., George A. Davis, John D. Davis, Jr., Joseph B. Davis, Mrs. Luther B. Garner, and Mrs. Phil P. Fenwick. The funeral will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence, and the burial will be in Congressional cemetery. A delegation from the Navy Yard will attend the funeral. Farragut Post will do the honors, and the remains will be buried with military honors.

NEW ZEALAND'S SERVANTS.

New Zealand is testing the utility of a compulsory arbitration law, but the results are still far from satisfactory. The domestic workers at Wellington have most reason to be pleased with the decision of an arbitration court. They organized under the law, and instantly struck, with an appeal to the courts. It is ruled that mistresses shall give preference to domestics. Wages shall be one shilling an hour for holidays; work to cease at 7:30 p. m. on Mondays, Tuesdays, Fridays, and Saturdays; at 2 p. m. on Thursdays and Sundays; and at 10 p. m. on Wednesdays. All domestics must be employed by 10 a. m. except Thursdays, when they may stay out till midnight. There are 1,000 mistresses who are liable to be haled before the arbitration court—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.
